Numerous Expressions of Disapproval of the Work of the Democratic Convention.

A Speech by Gen. Lamar—Judge Smith Talks to the Twelfth Ward Democracy—Notes.

[illegible] Many citizens should see that their names are properly registered on the registration list. It does not do for members of [illegible] to allow their names to be dropped from the list, and then to [illegible] election day. The only way to avoid [illegible] is to see that your name is on the list, and if not there to have it put on. The [illegible] to be registered.

READY FOR THE STRUGGLE.

[illegible] Democratic Ward Committee met last night at the Democratic Headquarters, No. 1 Clark street, and completed the organization of the Democratic Ward Clubs, preparatory to the spring campaign. [illegible] were represented at the meeting, and reports were made of the number of members enrolled in each club. The Committee on Finance reported that the sum of $1,000 had been subscribed, and that the money would be collected at once. The Committee on Arrangements reported that they had secured the Grand Pacific Hotel parlors for the ward banquet, to be held on the evening of April 9, and that the tickets would be placed at $2 each. The Committee on Speakers reported that they had secured the services of Gen. Lamar, Judge Gresham, Judge Tuley, Judge Booth, Judge Moran, Judge Smith, Judge Prendergast, Judge Horton, Judge Gary, Judge Shepard, Judge Blodgett, Judge Waite, Judge Ewing, Judge Dunne, Judge Goggins, Judge Brentano, Judge Jamieson, Judge Lambert Tree, Judge Wilkerson, Judge Williams, Judge Kohlsaat, Judge Bonfield, Judge Rogers, Judge Baker, Judge Hanecy, Judge Hawes, Judge Hoyne, Judge Mason, Judge Hutchinson, Judge Hollister, Judge Hinton, Judge Hall, Judge Hurd

TUESDAY, MARCH 31, 1885.

Queen Victoria and Prince Bismarck have left England for Denmark and visit the latter.

Mr. Edmunds received four votes for United States Senator in the joint session of Springfield yesterday.

The sentence of the Slocum court-martial is simply a statement. It has not as yet been approved by the President.

Two bonds valued by the Sun at $10,000 and 100 Boston street are estimated at $100,000. The difference is $90,000.

There were twelve yesterday in Central Assembly between the bowling forces of Guttenberg and the army of the invasion.

In the supplement will be found a map of the boundaries of the voting precincts of Chicago and a full list of the places of registration.

A DEBATE was held yesterday in the Bohemian Reformed Congress to settle a score or so of Bible points, six stories in height, to cost $50,000.

The British steamer Ocean, on her way from Liverpool to Penang, collided with a Chinese steamer and sank her, drowning seventy persons.

GENERAL GRANT is said to have withdrawn his capital from the Cincinnati, where the gout seems to give little to him. Cincinnati, it is said, has good enticements to Bartholdi.

TESTIMONY in the trial of ex-President Fish of the defunct Marine Bank of New York yesterday showed that Fish's profits from the firm of Grant & Ward for seven months of 1884 were $200,000.

A BLACKSMITH of coal mines valued at $50,000, consisting of a lot of the smallest coal on all Mingo and West Fox Grove streets, was sold yesterday by Bankers Egan & Hamill & Kennedy.

GEN. SHERMAN was much better yesterday and his physicians thought that death was not the danger. The disease had gone forward slowly but it seemed likely that the patient would thrive to death.

LORD ELGINSHIRE announced to the House of Commons yesterday that the proceedings of peace between Russia and England were greatly improved. He said, however, that no reply to England's ultimatum had as yet been received from St. Petersburg.

GEN. ELLIS (Democrat) yesterday in the War Department at Washington, succeeding Gen. Lamb, with 400 or 500 followers, will disappear to fill the President's positions and break Oklahoma. There was a conference at the White House, the result of which was that orders were issued to arrest Gen. Lamb and the other leaders of the band.

President Cleveland accepted the resignation of the French Ministry yesterday. It is suspected that the President will be called upon to take the reins. Washington will probably be tendered the office of Minister of Foreign Affairs and Lamb Day will be the new Minister of Finance. A thousand applications to Hoby by the determined upon for the new Ministry, and a search will be made upon Paris as soon as possible.

Regular voting. Every citizen should see that his name is properly inscribed on the registration list. A list of polling-places and a map showing precinct boundaries will be found in the supplement of today's issue. This is the last day for registration.

BUSINESS ADVICE AT A BUSINESS MEETING.

Many people are apt to believe that a war between Russia and England would be a business blessing to the United States. The speculators of both the government and the citizens of several and future wishes to purchase enormously, but depths have much of original fortunates will depend to civilized human nature and promote the belief that our nation was born and taken on the occasion and understanding of others. It is rarely the case that one country can be a permanent gainer through the misfortune of another. The interests Russia and England weigh between the gains of which to the country possibly to us to such a limited share the present prices, and to that extent brought to commitment a great adversary in the Western Hemisphere to gains (known generally) but a protracted struggle between these great Powers would also produce other effects that would be serious indeed to this country and greatly compromising for it to "keep" to the utmost market. The speculators to whom weight goes to battle have to the market, but it is a matter of grave moment that the people of the country as a whole would not be greatly injured by a war between England and Russia.

One of the most certain results of such a war would be to injure the cotton market. Russia is one of the great buyers of cotton from the United States as cotton goods from England, and haulings of this character are made through the English markets. The effect such a war would have on the cotton exports by lessening them from Southern ports is plainly as well appreciated. But to these exchanges cotton-men are cautioned to every observing reader to extend the same regrets that the grain markets are circulated. Every person is not now concerned to the growth or manufacture of cotton has an interest to think the result of war in Europe with increasing anxiety. Another effect of such a war would undoubtedly be to draw gold away from this country to Europe. England and Russia would become great borrowers, and enormous securities would be obtained in New York chiefly by the shipment of gold into Europe. The banking system of the United States is not, and could not be quickly dangerous at the present time, other means are spreading to retain a basis of gold from the country. The suspension of the coinage would not check the exportation of the currency that would almost certainly result from a war between England and Russia would have other very grave evils through enhanced prices for grain. Persons might be unable to make remittances to others, but the ample generally would feel more trouble in the way of remittals and remittances that are not associated by the great gradient of the United over the prospects of a foreign war.

Every one knows the world grows and wastes. Gaggles from the waste of both producers and consumers. Trade assumes the lands that should stimulate are interprise and give employment to labor. Its largest are added upon increased taxation and depression and poverty. The plain truth is that war, like fire, is a scourge to all civilization, except what successfully waged to overthrow tyranny and promote human freedom. In the present commercial nations are now bound together to interest one another in long ranks profit out of the agonies of another. It is well to remember these economic facts when a drag war is being, and as a rule every man of common it should see more great fear against should unite to a common purpose to destroy the most baneful form of barbarism. It is natural to every interest of civilization, and the welfare of the world should long ago have agreed to submit their differences to peaceful adjustment. One of the greatest difficulties in the way of such a compromise is the utter ignorance of the people of both countries that the two nations are bent upon the destruction of each other. There is much of the original margin yet left to human nature, and it springs to the surface at the first cry of war.

THE EGYPTIAN FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENT.

The Egyptian financial agreement, which was signed recently by the representatives of the six Powers—England, Germany, France, Italy, Austria, and Turkey—has at last been ratified, the English Parliament having adopted it the fifth inst. by 304 to 141, and the Italian Chamber of Deputies by 200 to 100. The Egyptian Government, brought into practicability the loan.

Under this new agreement a loan of £91,400,000 is guaranteed, to be used in liquidating the Egyptian debt. This loan is to be issued in London, Paris, and Berlin at 3 per cent, 1, per cent is to be added to the sinking fund for the reduction of the loan, and the remainder is to be applied to the interest of the English Guarantee of the Suez Canal the new will be liquidated by the payment of £1,115,000 annually, this sum to constitute a first mortgage upon the Egyptian revenue until the entire loan is liquidated. If any default is made in the payment of principal or interest each guaranty Power becomes responsible. Meanwhile the revenues of the Egyptian Government, which stood now £10,000,000 to £12,000,000 for the use of maintaining an army of occupation. An investigation is also to be made as to the debt of Egypt's property to existing revenue, and during this investigation there will be a temporary reduction on the Canal shares. The control of the Government also provides for an English governor and administrator of internal affairs for three years, and if at that time the country is not prepared for self-government it may be continued a year longer. The Egyptian difficulties in general are thus settled, and the troubles will probably end forever, although there is no reason to think that on the other hand there will be any more loans. The two loans of about £100,000,000 each, through the aiding of the Powers, will enable Egyptians to equalize a little more out of the enormous taxations. Instead of a debt of £91,400,000 to a multiple nations, and to the favors of the present England must still be able to supply not over of taxes should be a favorable opportunity. The two powerful countries have practically combined to putting down Arabi's rebellion, and to the extent to put down what is called El Mahdi's "rebellion." It would seem that France has lost the battle of the game and is ruling England to pull the chestnuts out of the fire, while it very convenient for the former Power, as it will let its battle-worn forces rest with no further efforts.

Regular voting. Every citizen should see that his name is properly inscribed on the registration list. In some wards the boundaries of precincts have been changed, to others the polls-books of last fall have not been used, being sent to Springfield as evidence in contested-election cases. The only safe plan will be for every citizen to visit his polling-place today and see that he is registered. A list of polling-places and a map showing precinct boundaries will be found in the supplement of today's issue. This is the last day for registration.

CLEVELAND'S DIVISION OF THE SPOILS.

The President is apparently determined to acknowledge no obligations to the Irish for the position he holds. The list of foreign appointments was largely arranged yesterday, and further the honors have been divided between Scotch and Scotch-Irish families.

The Irish list: The French relation, Minister of Switzerland, the Russian relation, Archives of Georgia, the Italian relation, Bishop of Virginia, the Greek relation, Bishop of North Carolina, the Austrian relation.

The Scotch list: The English relation, Police of Tipperary, the German relation, Presidency of Ohio, the Turkish relation, Fire of New York—Scotch-Irish.

The majority of the first diplomatic and consular representatives abroad, after Mr. Cleveland shall have completed his list of foreign appointments, will be of Scotch-Irish Republicans who aid the army of Lincoln during the American Union. Of the minority who opposed the Lincoln administration of the country do not still be Democrats or Anglo-Saxons who trusted to the Confederacy.

Mr. Cleveland touches upon politics in the selection of the heads of the Executive offices. Here is a list of the principal places obtained by the Confederate soldiers of the late Confederacy:

[illegible]

Mr. Cleveland has not yet announced the selection of the heads of the Treasury, War, Navy, Interior, Agriculture, Postoffice, and Justice Departments, but it is safe to say that the Confederate soldiers will be represented in the Cabinet.

THE WAR-WHOOP.

The Village of Sutkatief in the Northwest Territory Reported Captured by Savages.

A General Uprising of Indians against the American Government Said to Be Imminent.

Troops Directed Westward—One Million Acres for 5,000 Men Mus'd—Parliament Debate.

SETTLERS SLAUGHTERED.

A WAVE OF REVOLUTION SWEEPS OVER THE NORTHWEST.

Winnipeg, Man., March 30.—[Special.]—Reports just received confirm the report that Sutkatief has been captured by the Indians, who are celebrating the victory. Their strength is variously estimated at from 500 to 1,000. That Indians outside the Canadian ground participated in the butchery is certain.

Letters from Indians are in possession of a portion of the force at Battleford, the position having been shown to the bearers.

Toronto, Ont., March 30.—[Special.]—Advices from Battleford to mid-morning all the inhabitants of that district are at Fredericton or Victoria. They number over 500 and threaten the lives of all the settlers and half-breeds who have been plundered by the rebels. Every man in the place has been mustered for service. The Indians concentrated to burn the town and are expected to make a rush from both the north and south sides. Couriers are dispatched to Battleford to warn the settlers of the danger. The greatest excitement prevails. Provisions are very scarce.

Winnipeg, March 30.—[Special.]—Many rumors are current here. The following dispatch has just been received by a prominent citizen:

"Battleford has been captured and the Indians have set conflagration at every house. The inhabitants escaped to the police barracks, where they are now supplying an attack from the Indians, who are gathered on the south side of the North River."

Telegraphic communication is reported to exist with Battleford.

Winnipeg, Man., March 30.—Battleford, a district town, which has a store at Battleford, received a telegram from the former on the 27th inst.:

Indians, including scouts, soldiers, and all in the barracks, intend assembling on north side church to procession of hostages; hope to effect some kind treaty; hostages at Battleford; Indians will attempt to take hostages on pretext of council and in centre of the assembly; then hostages as counterattack; when hostages in centre they intend to kill the centre of the assembly.

The letters detail Battleford and about surrounding and well armed, after being thoroughly cowed to obey the Indians, and further inform that they have been warned by the Indians who are gathered on the south side of the North River."

Telegraphic communication is reported to exist with Battleford.

Winnipeg, Man., March 30.—Battleford, a district town, which has a store at Battleford, received a telegram from the former on the 27th inst.:

Indians, including scouts, soldiers, and all in the barracks, intend assembling on north side church to procession of hostages; hope to effect some kind treaty; hostages at Battleford; Indians will attempt to take hostages on pretext of council and in centre of the assembly; then hostages as counterattack; when hostages in centre they intend to kill the centre of the assembly.

The letters detail Battleford and about surrounding and well armed, after being thoroughly cowed to obey the Indians, and further inform that they have been warned by the Indians who are gathered on the south side of the North River."

[illegible] Ont., March 30.—[Special.]—The Winnipeg dispatch about the city being in general uproar became a general sprinkling of [illegible] to reporters on the streets. A [illegible] from sympathetic reports on [illegible] of [illegible] to the Hon. Edgar, there were [illegible] of [illegible] Indians, there have been [illegible] in the barracks, where they have been placed for safety. Every man in the place has been mustered for service. The Indians concentrated to burn the town and are expected to make a rush from both the north and south sides. Couriers are dispatched to Battleford to warn the settlers of the danger. The greatest excitement prevails. Provisions are very scarce.

Winnipeg, March 30.—[Special.]—Many rumors are current here. The following dispatch has just been received by a prominent citizen:

"Battleford has been captured and the Indians have set conflagration at every house. The inhabitants escaped to the police barracks, where they are now supplying an attack from the Indians,
